

— NYKAA USER EXPERIENCE ANALYSIS

NYKAA.

A first-hand walkthrough of the app
— buying, browsing, and where the experience breaks.

— HOW THIS WAS TESTED

Walked the app with real tasks.

- 01 Searched for a face lotion for dry skin and a shampoo for damaged hair to test search relevance
 - 02 Ran the SkinScan feature and checked it against known skin concerns
 - 03 Walked through checkout, shipping fees, Luxe collection, and Nykaa Play
 - 04 Included one secondhand case — a refund/return experience reported by another user — clearly flagged as such
- ✓ What worked: SkinScan accurately flagged skin concerns already known — a rare case of a diagnostic feature matching reality, not just marketing.

— REFUND & RETURN HANDLING

Six return attempts to get one refund.

- Return repeatedly cancelled as "incomplete request" — no clear reason given
- One agent cited a badly captured photo — unclear why the return was accepted in the first place
- Return pickup itself was never scheduled by Nykaa on three occasions
- Refund only credited after multiple calls to customer care

Return cancelled twice — "incomplete request"

Refund finally credited, weeks later

— VIRTUAL TRY-ON

Advertised on the product page. Doesn't exist.

- Foundation/concealer product page shows a "Find Your Perfect Match with Virtual Try-On" banner with a "Try Now" prompt
- The banner is static — tapping it does nothing; there's no actual try-on flow behind it
- This isn't a missing feature — it's a feature being marketed that doesn't function, on the exact page where a shade-match tool would matter most

Product page banner — no working tap target

MEDIUM & LOW SEVERITY

Smaller cracks, same pattern.

PRICING	Shipping fee copy — " ₹70 for orders below ₹299 " — doesn't clarify if ₹299 itself qualifies as free
PRICING	Luxe collection feels overpriced, and its bland design undercuts the premium tier it's charging for
SEARCH	Searching " dry skin " surfaces "glowing/glass skin" results; relevance also drifts after the first 1–2 results on other queries
HOMEPAGE	Dense visual clutter, uncontrolled scroll, and banners that pop in without warning
ENGAGEMENT	Nykaa Play feels like a distraction — the offers after winning aren't worth the detour

Bag total: exactly ₹299 Fee copy: "₹70 for orders below ₹299"

— RECOMMENDATIONS & SUMMARY

Fix this, ranked by what it costs Nykaa.

01

Ship the Try-On Nykaa Already Promises

Make the already-advertised virtual try-on / shade-match feature on foundation and concealer pages actually functional.

02

Skin-Profile Review Filters

Let users filter reviews by skin profile — dry, dusky, sensitive — so social proof actually reflects their skin type.

HIGH	Refund & return handling · Non-functional virtual try-on
MEDIUM	Shipping fee ambiguity · Luxe pricing & design · Search relevance and query mismatch
LOW	Homepage clutter · Nykaa Play
